

Lighter to My Cigarette

Lighter to My Cigarette is the urban tale of a jaded lover, (illegal) international sales, and how everything comes back full circle. Beyond the pages of Lighter to my Cigarette lies the story of twenty-one year old Kai Ellis, a young woman with beauty, brains and big dreams to boot. Engaged to once big time turned small fry hustler Justice Jay Smith and although Justice claims he loves her, she also knows that he doesn't support her decisions. Their love gets tested and pushed to the limit after an argument erupts and a little violence ensues. Kai moves out and into the arms of up and coming kingpin Quentin Q Roberts. Quentin, an heir to one of Newark's biggest drug empires is struggling with so many different things that at times, he doesn't know which way is up. Dealing with his hustler ambitions, a baby mama who cares more about her next hit than the kid they share and trying to pursue a more legitimate lifestyle, Quentin tries to maintain and Kai is the one to help him through it. Once Justice finds out that Kai is in love with another man, he uses ruthless tactics to try and get her back at any cost. It seems that Kai and Quentin's love gets tested a little more everyday and somehow, they make it through but will it be able to withstand the numerous obstacles they must face? Who will end up behind bars, who will end up in a pool of their own blood and will anyone be able to live happily ever after? Or is that only in the movies?
